

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Fryin' up wild browns

Re: Fryin' up wild browns

Author: : Twofly

Date: : 2013/5/1 12:03:35

URL:

Our camp is right down the road from LR. Love it fish it often. I always wondered where the browns came from and faced that dilemma a few years ago. Although I mostly catch smaller brookies I do see more and more browns showing up. have never caught a bow up there but couple of years ago, landed a very large brown but couldnt bring myself to kill him. Today ,he would be on my wall. I wonder how many brookies he consumed to get that size. As far as I know they only stock bows and paliminos in the lake. Last weekend I drove by the lake and it was loaded with anglers. The fish where rising everywhere.