Heed the wise words of the Fishidiot. When I began this journey last year I thought it was only abt trout. Having never fished in my life, no clue abt WW species that are all around me.

By mid-June was just getting very frustrated with the skunk but decided to try a local creek not knowing really where to scout out some trout. Much to my surprise I landed a ton of bluegills, pan fish, rock bass, etc ... even started a thread asking if "X fish are stupid?" They are not only a blast to fish for but also a great confidence and skillz builder!
