

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Large (Dead) Brookies

Re: Large (Dead) Brookies

Author: : Squaretail

Date: : 2013/5/2 9:31:53

URL:

That pictures a tiger.

I just have a hard time believing some of these wild.

All truly native brookies I know of have a zebra type pattern on their tail, probably from growth spurts, even on fertile streams. Some are more pronounced than others but they have always been there in some form. Kinda like Maurices holy grail tell tale blue spot behind the eye on brownies.

Maybe they dissappear when fish get that big sometimes, but my largest fish have still had them.