This isn't fly fishing related but when I was younger about 14-16 I used to fish this local pond all the time. Some of the biggest large mouth I ever caught were in that pond. It was fantastic, until people started to litter to the point when the owner of the property no longer lets anyone fish there. It saddens me that this happens and I can no longer fish in one of my favorite spots.

It's good to know there are those willing to pick up after others to keep areas clean. Glad to see you guys are doing a part, even though you shouldn't have to.
