

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Dry Fly Tying thread?

Re: Dry Fly Tying thread?

Author: : JeffK

Date: : 2013/5/4 8:35:31

URL:

I like the Veevus, but have tied with Danville, UNI, and UTC and they are fine too. In general I like finer threads for dry flies and usually start with 8/0. I don't think you can pick wrong. Learn to tie with one and when you learn more and get better preferences you can branch out.

The Dette's originally used white thread and colored the head. For years I used black and a neutral color (either gray or tan). Now I have dozens of spools of colors and types of threads. My flies look prettier, but I'm not sure the fish care.