Here's the latest (my bold):

TYRONE, BLAIR COUNTY - The Blair County Coroner is calling the death suspicious.

The man who died has been identified as 28 year-old Dominic Balzano of Altoona. Kayakers on the river discovered the body around 5 Thursday afternoon.

Belzano was found in the shallow water of the Little Juniata outside Tyrone in Snyder Township. Authorities are still trying to determine the circumstances. There are plenty of questions about how his body came be floating in the Little Juniata.

Balzano's autopsy was held Thursday afternoon but the results were inconclusive according to Blair County Coroner Patty Ross. Ross said that additional microscopic and toxicology testing will be done in part because there was no water found in the lungs of Balzano. She is currently calling this death "suspicious."

His father is the Pastor of the Pleasant Valley Assembly of God Church in Altoona.
