Extreme Brookie Fishing

Had a nice day out with k-bob and Foxgap today on a ridiculously steep, rough, remote Brookie stream. Probably about as rough as it gets terrain wise in PA, and this now takes the top prize as the most extreme stream I've ever tackled in search of Trout. It's funny because this stream was probably #1 on my list of streams to do for over a year now, but something always got in the way...including a bout of food poisoning that cancelled an intended trip last Fall the night before...but after seeing it, climbing it, fishing it, not falling or breaking anything, and having a great time doing it, I oddly don't really have a strong urge to do it again...it's that much of a butt kicker. Pretty sure I'm gonna be sore tomorrow too.

Pretty place, pretty fish, pretty darn good company too...just thought I'd share a few pics...

If you recognize the stream from the pics, please don't name it in the thread. Thanks gang.
