

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Dumb move of the day

Re: Dumb move of the day

Author: : lv2nymph

Date: : 2013/5/4 19:42:04

URL:

The only thing I've forgotten is my license, but I've done that multiple times over the years. Mainly because I switch types of vests from small streams to bigger water and it doesn't get moved.

I've only ran into an officer once in over thirty years of fishing, and he stood behind me for a while and watched me catch bass on a little stream in Maryland. I realized he was there I said hey how ya doing? He said doing well, looks like you're having fun have a good day and left. Never asked to see my license or anything else. I figure I'm due to see one here soon so I go back and get it when I do. Have not done it in a long time. 🏠