I've never caught a bass bigger than 5lbs, neither on spin equipment, nor fly rod. Today I not only caught the biggest fish ever on the fly, but the biggest bass. 8lbs, and on the way out, with one more cast to go, hooked into a huge carp (maybe 30 inches), fought him for 15 minutes or so until he broke me. *I was not actively fishing for bass and he was immediately released upon landing. While on the subject, did I play the carp for too long? I was using 5x, and he had a tremendous amount of energy even after breaking me off.
