

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : help

Re: help

Author: : grizzly1972

Date: : 2006/9/24 8:06:47

URL:

Hi

Thankyou very much for the help, it is greatly appreciated. I guess using a woolybugger with a pheasant tail nymph would not be a great choice for fall time? maybe I should just fish ants and beetles. The water in brush creek is also extremely low. The last time I fished this creek was in early june and it was still loaded with fish. I had a lot of luck in the spring when you guys told me to fish woolybuggers, which I never really fished them that much. I only had luck with the buggers that where bead headed. I am assumin this was because they had the shiny little bead that maybe attracted this fish more so than the bugger without the bead head? Well thanks again for the help and good luck to all..