

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Cicada Spot Burning

Re: Cicada Spot Burning

Author: : troutbert

Date: : 2013/5/6 15:28:01

URL:

There were quite a few flyfishers fishing the cicadas in central PA in 2008 and the local fly shops were cranking out imitations to keep up with demand. The crowds weren't like the Green Drake circus or the famous sulphur hatches, but there were quite a few people out there throwing big black bugs.

And wasn't it discussed a fair bit on here? I think the info was available but most people just aren't used to the idea of fishing the cicada hatch. The Hendricksons, Grannoms, Sulphurs, Green Drakes come around every year. The cicadas only come out every 17 years.