Try a product called Bug Band. I have been using it for years. It is all natural and was developed at the University of Florida. They have wristbands and towelettes. A wristband on the back of your ball cap works great as does the towelettes wiped on your exposed skin and placed on the inside of your hat. It smells a little different, botanical, but it does work. I used to hang a couple of wristbands on the stroller handle when the kids were little and it kept the skeeters away. It is available at Target, Bass Pro, Home Depot, etc...
