being a struggling crafter i love seeing the building. i take the love of cane on faith. i ordered a blank from george maurer many years ago. he didnt build it, he imported some i think. i made the finishd rod. heavy as a telepole, whippy as a noodle. its in the rafters, the expense haunts me but after trying i find it unusable. the rods shown in the video are way to whippy for me. one guy could not uncurl a backcast. but, i take on faith that theres something there beyond my ability to comprehend. a cane rod is right up there with a guitar as a thing thats just pleasing to hold.
