
Subject: : Fly Fishing Events and Meet-ups

Topic: : Harman's North Fork Invitational

Re: Harman's North Fork Invitational

Author: : teacreekfreak

Date: : 2013/5/8 19:03:19

URL:

Quote:

SBecker wrote:

My question is this.....If it is not your cup of tea, it is not your cup of tea. But why come on here and bash a sponsor of the site? Especially a sponsor that has been very generous with our members. And now because of that sponsorship, PA Fly Fish is going to be recognized all over the country and get some real good publicity. I just find that in bad taste.

lol a lot of other ideas gets bashed on this forum, why spare a sponsor..... havent seen any real bashing in this thread yet, just differences of opinions really, i think we're entitled to state those differences whether it pertains to a sponsor or not and what is the importance to be recognized 'all over the country'....what good publicity does PA Fly Fish stand to gain, just asking im lost i guess

p.s. becker its baseball season, could you please change your avatar to reflect that.....you could probably find pictures of girls doing things with louisville sluggers that would make ron jeremy shake his head in disgust (probably not forum appropriate though)