

---

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : smallmouth bass flies

Re: smallmouth bass flies

Author: : dc410

Date: : 2013/5/9 21:57:37

URL:

pwk,

Hey, those black Slumpbusters are tough to beat, but if I had to go up against it this might be the fly. Here is a picture of the Bunny Bugger that I described earlier. If you have trouble finding the gray/variant strung saddle I'm sure a soft, webby grizzly saddle would work very well too. Rabbit strip is an awesome tying material. If you like fishing it, use it for the tails on your buggers. Nothing says you need to use marabou just because it is the part of the original WB pattern. I'm sure you will have a lot of fun with them if you give 'em a shot. Good luck!

dc

Attach file:

 Olive Bunny Bugger.jpg (21.46 KB)

 Red Eye on a Red Eye.jpg (26.47 KB)

