

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : St Croix Imperial?

Re: St Croix Imperial?

Author: : phiendWMD

Date: : 2013/5/10 20:26:27

URL:

The one I am looking at is burgundy, not brown. Since I've only really used one rod so far, I'm not sure I'm educated enough to report back and be able to describe it accurately. I am using a Berkley rod now with a Shakespeare reel that a very nice person from Craigslist gave to me when I bought something else. It has to be better than that. And if I end up not liking it much, I can always sell it and get something else.

Its pretty crazy I didn't give a damn about fishing at all for the last 20 years and now its my favorite thing to do. I was stressed this afternoon stuck in traffic trying to make it somewhere before they closed. Then I got to the stream and immediately after I got in the water some kids started throwing rocks. I wanted to drown them. 15 minutes later I was lost in bliss.