Yea JT ... the direction u sent me was perfect.

There was one local gent and that was it. Nice guy and we chatted for awhile ... dude caught abt 40+ fish! Was interesting that these small fish just chomp at the fly, not the nibble and reject of high pressured waters. When the day was thru I went in the other direction abt 1/4 mile down stream and there were a few stockies in very still H2O but I spooked'em and they had no interest in what I was chucken.

Must hit up more brookie streams as this was nice but some of the fotos I have seen on the site are just beautiful. Really enjoyed exploring but I need to go with you guys as to figure out where to find more fish When I spoke to the guy I met he said I missed a ton of spots holding a bunch of natives. And I have yet to catch a trout on a dry .. next on the bucket list!
