Those letters and E-mails are paying off. There have been a couple of articles in the Daily Local on the ongoing negotiation with the developers, and today's headline http://www.zwire.com/site/index.cfm?n ...G=461&dept_id=17782&rfi=8 tells of the continuing progress. The Friends of the Struble Trail did a big job in focusing the issue and generating support from a wide variety of folks.

The opening up of the fenced off area will probably cause the state to increase their stocking policy, although there are some wild browns in the EB.
