As of yesterday, and at least until tomorrow, 81 south is closed at the 83 split. Nothing like a two hour commute with heavy traffic to get your day going. If it's still closed, which it shouldn't be, I would recommend those coming from the SE to hit exit 90 and find your way to 443 through Ft Indiantown gap to avoid the craziness that has been and certainly will be all alternative routes in Harrisburg. For those coming from the south, 81 north is closed at 581, but at least you can still get on 322 west by going 581-83-81s/322w.
