

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Frustrated Land Owner

Re: Frustrated Land Owner

Author: : JackM

Date: : 2013/5/13 14:22:59

URL:

So, what, should we just start threads about disrespectful behavior and insist that everyone stick to that topic rather than interesting topics that also present themselves.

Here:

"It's a shame what those kids/some people did/do."

Does that make everything feel better?

The focus on the landowner is at least constructive in that it may cause other landowners to avoid risky behavior. Do you think posting a rant and then everyone piling on is going to change the attitude of anyone who lacks respect?

Not many of those types participate here. And, if they do read occasionally, this kind of stuff goes over their heads or is laughable to them, trust me.