I regularly fish from my kayak, fly and bait/spin. Takes a little work getting used to casting from your ass but it's not a ton different. If you really wanna get creative some deck rigging or straps and some improvised floats would even allow you to stand.

I float and fish the perkiomen below green lane with it for smallies. Sometimes in the heat of the summer we will load all our nightfishing gear in it and use it to float down and paddle back up to our cars. It's a hell of a lot easier than carrying coolers and rods through the woods.

I'd be down for a meet up and float if you wanna give it a shot sometime. I've got an extra you could try out if you wanna give it a shot before you go all in and make a purchase. I've got an 11.5 foot old town with rod holder that I use and a cheapo 9.5 foot rec boat from Dicks that I started on. I'd let ya try either and take the other if you wanted to give it a shot.
