

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Living the dream. Need help

Re: Living the dream. Need help

Author: : PennypackFlyer

Date: : 2013/5/14 17:14:21

URL:

Since it looks like the fly rod is one of the criteria's to getting the job, you should shop around and purchase a new one instead of continuing to fix the one you mention keeps breaking down. This will probably save you money in the long run. The tasking that is at hand is getting used to the dynamics of a new rod before you get to Montana. Best of luck to you in your new adventure.