I hear ya RRR, it's disgusting how people treat that spot, and many others like it out in the backroads.

I was actually talking about bigbronco's post where he said his brother lives up there and actually calls the game commission on the kids swimming and partying.

In other perk valley news: I did great last night bringing 6 trout to hand, two of which were over 10 inches or so. Was just past dark so I was just swingin a BWO close to me and letting it drift into a pool with no slack, the two bigger ones made the reel scream when they took it. That was the main branch perky though up toward hereford. There is a good population of wilds in there too just like the WB.
