I definitely like the prices of Redingtons compared to some other stuff. Someone else I know said he has a few Orvis Battenkills and he really likes them. I'm pretty abusive with gear, so something that just works is most important. Next would be I don't really want to spend much more than $100-$150 and an extra spool would be nice. Looks would be nice, but I'll take function over form every time.
