At times, but there were large stretches when clouds rolled in and the stream was completely overcast, including the evening hours.

I probably should have tried some more scud patterns. but I was blaming my fishing instead of the drifts. I'm also a complete idiot for heading there with my 9' z-axis instead of my 7 foot 3 weight.

I drove off that stream cursing myself for having chosen to go there and swearing to never return.

I woke up today and want to go back.

But seriously. That stream is ridiculous.
