

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : the brain is churning again on a dual taper line.

Re: the brain is churning again on a dual taper line.

Author: : pcray1231

Date: : 2013/5/22 15:42:39

URL:

I have cut DT lines in half. I do it on my brookie rod. For that application, you're never throwing even half a line. So no, I've never seen the backing.

Same as turning it around, except you know that the back half will never rot while not in use. My reels get dunked fairly often. Even the un-used portion wears out when you get it wet.

The only thing I can say is that you have to add more backing to take up the extra room.