Starting about +/-2 weeks or so ago(maybe before?) they were really keyed in on the caddis and then as of Tuesday they still were. I heard last week during the week was good. There's quite a bit of trout still left in there for the amount that get kept.

If all else fails fish streamers(for trout and bass). Like I said this is my first good year with dries on the Shenango. Sz 14 tan EHC is all that's been hatching and catching. Good luck!
