Bill, you can still walk past the cabins and access the stream, we did last weekend and had no problem, chatted with people that were out working in there yards and such, no issues at all. we did learn that the cabin and home owners DO NOT LIKE when the access gets blocked by idiot fishermen parking and blocking their road, which I can totally understand.

as for the property across the bridge? 29 grand for a piece of property with NO vehicle access? yikes. that's pricy for what amounts to a place to put a tent, cause your never gonna be able to get trucks in to drill a water well, put in a septic, deliver building materials, etc.

wonder if the state didn't buy it to simply add it to the state forest land which pretty much surrounds it?
