Thanks guys. I did make a point of stopping in at two in reading the other day. I like how they have all their materials laid out and organized. Made it easier to figure out my options. They has some pretty reasonably priced hooks too! Didn't end up asking many questions there though - I had other errands to run in reading . I'll have to make a point of going back there and asking some questions. I also ordered some materials from bearsden.com. Good prices and shipping was really cheap.
