For me over the past thirty years it has been a migration from one box that had it all to the purchase of several boxes that started to accumulate seasonal patterns and files bought at a certain time. There is no rhyme or reason, just a bunch of drawers in a dresser that I know have the clothes I need to wear sometime. I can pretty much remember what I have to wear and where I put it last I wore it but sometimes I find that old tee-shirt or pair of jeans I thought I lost and it Man it looks good on me.

So I have downsized once again to a W&J sling pack. I am trying to jam 7 boxes in it and a bottle of water and a snickers bar but I have to consolidate. I just can't or I guess won't.

I mean there is the sentimentality of the actual boxes that hold the files and the tales they have to share every time I open them.

So I guess what I am saying is I don't organize my files...they organize me.

HTH.
