

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Frustrating weekend

Frustrating weekend

Author: : foxfire

Date: : 2013/5/27 21:50:12

URL:

ished a stock stream and a native brookie stream this weekend both of which were experiencing a moderate sulphur (I think) hatch. Trout were not at all rising for the hatch or my dry, in fact I watched a half dozen trout rooting along the bottem obviously feeding on something. After changing, I literally was bumping every nymph pattern and wooley buggers i had off their heads without either a hit or bothering them?!?!? What do you suppose they were feeding on??