I'll tell you what worked for me last night. I watched the guy near me catch a fish every time I turned around while I couldn't get a bite. So I asked him what he was using. He told me, then gave me a couple brown zebra midges. And I promptly started getting bites and caught 1.

I wouldn't expect everyone to be so generous, but just asking can lead to good information. If nothing else you can be prepared for next time.
