I had an experience on a local SE PA stream yesterday that I never saw before. I was walking up the stream and came to a nice pool. As I was approaching I saw 2 birds flying in and out of the stream side grasses. I watched because I was fascinated by this play and after about a minute the tail of the pool came alive with rising fish. I guess those birds were creating an ant fest for me although I was too stubborn to change from my nymph and on my first cast, spooked the crap out of them. Oh well, lesson learned.
