Fished the DHALO area at the Lycoming County line and caught a couple stockers about a week ago. Thought the bug activity too light but did see a lot of crayfish there as usual. Risers in the big pool upstream from the parking area there were few and far between. Very few spinners. Area is usually heavily stocked and it has been quite cool up there so I am not so sure water temps will be impacted just yet. Also hit some tributaries for brook trout which was quite satisfying and I'd say if you're looking at the Loyalsock in Sully Co you should be fishing a trib too.
