Jesus, youd think I posted asking how to safely fish in a lightning storm haha. I understand it's risky in a storm, I meant in light rain or after a major storm.

Was more looking for flies to use and tactics for high or muddy water.

Didn't get out with the sculpin yesterday, well I did but it was in a farm pond and it did snag me a little 12" largemouth.

Life got in the way and I found myself helping a friend move rather than fishing. Going back down today though to hit the creek.
