

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Tippet twist

Re: Tippet twist

Author: : pcray1231

Date: : 2013/5/29 18:37:15

URL:

Long tippets don't help.

But the culprit is more often than not the fly. When one side of the fly has more wind resistance than the other, it twists up. I have some issues with cut wings, but the cut wing thorax ties are usually ok for me. For me it's usually a fly that's unraveling, or a spinner pattern that got one wing all screwy.