

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Soft Hackle Question

Soft Hackle Question

Author: : BelAirSteve

Date: : 2013/5/29 22:06:55

URL:

I tie and fish a lot of soft hackles - partridge & yellow, partridge & green, partridge & yellow, gold ribbed hares hares, etc. I thought recently that an iridescent glass bead behind the soft hackle (where you tie a small thorax normally) might serve as the "bubble" that is represented in an emerger pattern. Have any of you tied one like that? I might tie up a few and see how they fish this weekend on the Gunpowder. Thoughts, comments, opinions?