Of the 3 big fish, 2 took green drake emergers which I force fed them as I watched them eat sulphurs. Can't pass up a meal like that. One of the other good fish took a #18 sulphur cripple. At times the amount of biomass on the surface was staggering. I can't get the video off of my camera but have a 20 second shot of a charcoal caddis swarm coming back to drop eggs. It was a grannom hatch x5. I've never seen anything like it. The fish weren't eating them though. Go figure.
