

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Silly carp, youre not a salmon

Re: Silly carp, youre not a salmon

Author: : lv2nymph

Date: : 2013/5/31 6:10:26

URL:

Yes, I've seen that before. My father used to take me fishing at Conowingo Dam on the Susquehanna river when I lived in Md I was about 10. There is a pretty good size ledge at the bottom of the dam when it's shut off and the water flowing down is a couple of inches deep and the carp would jump up on to that and swim like they were going upstream, I used to run around and try and catch them by hand that was a lot of fun. My father didn't know why they did it I really didn't care at the time. I haven't thought about that for a long time thank you for jogging that for me.