I use the old fashion nail knot for the line to leader connection, using either a nail or often I tear apart a pen and use the tube. I do struggle with it and may play with HA's method.

That said, I have NEVER had to do a nail knot streamside, and don't carry a tool. I make 2 or 3 a year, sitting in my house. And despite being a pain, it doesn't slow me down any, so I never considered it a "problem". I use blood knots for all leader and tippet knots, which I can do quickly streamside.
