yeah i would have to do a bunch more research on what to actually get, and yet i see so many skateboard vid guys shooting with a 60d? maybe i cant remember now. and they are pulling some decent footy. so based on that i was starting to drool over the d800 for the vid and the sensor, that ff sensor is awesome but if you get too crazy with the cropping you see the pixels, but the camera can handle some serious dark shooting, and saves you tons on aa batteries in the strobes.

oh well the final version of this vid is going on a flash drive as i type and will be public prob by this after noon.

also need to figure out exporting to more manageable files right now the vid is 4 1/2 min and 22 gigs of info lol
