

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Fly tying gear

Re: Fly tying gear

Author: : mattofcarlisle

Date: : 2013/6/3 12:21:42

URL:

I love to tie & have been using on an old Thompson AA for 25 years. I just wore out the one side of the jaws and had to flip them upside down. I also place a small piece of carboard between the upper & lower clamp to keep my wife happy. Great scissors are nice, but I find myself using a single side razor blade most of the time. Do yourself a favor & buy a good bobbin - the cheap ones that come in the kits tend to cut thread eventually. Also, get a small, cheaper pair of fiskars for cutting hair & bulk material.