Fishidiot, thanks for the advice, it was a bang up day for sure I really really didn't expect to see that many fish or that many big fish. I did do a lot of research to narrow down the waters that would give me the highest probability of running into fish because I can only wade and float tube...I'm going to hit the bench, keep reading and studying, watching more videos and keep chasing them, it's only a matter of time. I believe we have a full moon coming this week. I will be back for more punishment..haha
