

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Morning Hatch??

Re: Morning Hatch??

Author: : Dcap240

Date: : 2013/6/3 22:05:14

URL:

I was on the bushkill last Thursday night and I did see a lot of those white midges that jeffk mentioned there was also sulphurs still around here and there but nothing I would call a hatch. They midges are white bodied with a pale yellow head and I believe the trout were feeding on them. I didn't have anything to match the midges but I did get two in the last 10 minutes before it was to dark on a size 20 tan-ish sulphur. Oh yeah but this was in the park that is upstream from bush kill park can't think of the name right now.