yeah, I'd bet that of fish in the DH section of the Tully, even during the "harvest" period, less than 1 in 50 catches are kept. So if even 2 of 50 die, it's gonna outnumber legal harvest. In other words, it's a virtual certainty, regardless of water temps.

Though there is a bit of poaching on that water, before the harvest period. Still, a very small % of the fish are lost due to harvest.
