You have days were they follow ever cast and not eat. It's not that your "doing" anything wrong. Ask good musky gear guys follows out number eats. That's the game you have to play when ya hunt em. Mark the fish and go back to em.

I choose color in terms of what's easy for me to see in the water (and what past experience has worked)I want to be able to see the fly as I'm fishing it. And I switch if I get a fish following, color & sz switches can trigger a fish.
