I have a 10'8" Echo 5 wt switch. Tried scandi heads and skagit heads for a while. Never liked the transition to the shooting line when I had to deal with shorter cast. Worked great at 50+ feet. Ended up going with an Ambush 7 wt and have never looked back. They recommend going 3-4 line sizes above your rod weight depending on your casting style preference, but half the time I end up casting basic overhead when I have room and the 7 wt felt better.
