Thanks for all of the feedback guys...I really appreciate the help. The grain window for the rod is 140-280, so Skip's recommendation of 265 sounds about right and should load the rod quickly. I am probably asking a lot out of this set-up wanting it to be a jack of all trades. Spey Clave guys rave about Steve Godshall lines. I think he helped develop the Rainshadow blanks and builds custom lines specific to how a guy wants to fish. Anyone have any experience with him?
