Yeah Andy most leader formulas you see today only have anywhere from 12 to 18" of tippet. after a couple fly changes it way too short. A few years ago I read Ed Engle's book fishing small flies and started using his recommended 16' George Anderson leader and haven't looked back. A super heavy butt section and 3 foot tippet = money on the D during small fly season. I don't use this leader early in the year for the bigger flies but it doesn't matter what dry fly leader i'm using i have 3 to 4 feet of tippet to start.
