Took the rod out to the cocalico last night. It felt a lot more comfortable to cast the second time out. I was throwing a big wooly bugger and also a closer minnow. Caught a smallmouth bass, a fall fish, and a sunnies, and turned at least one other fish. If I hadn't also been giving casting lessons to my girlfriend, I imagine I could've gotten a few more fish. It ended up being a really handy rod to have, because I had her casting my 6 weight while I was using the 7 weight. If i hadn't had it, either she or I would've been fishing my 4 weight. I think maybe this rod will get some use after all.

Awesome! That puts a smile on my face.
